

Tepandine at Epicure, Kuala Lumpur

Tepandine is very proud to have taken part in Epicure, Malaysia's leading lifestyle fair, during the 17, 18 & 19th of September, and this was the first time that Tepandine's unique range of Teppanyaki-inspired products had been seen in Malaysia. At the event was the who's who of Malaysian high society including Chef Wan, Malaysia's best known culinary celebrity who kicked off the event in style.

As usual, Tepandine's innovative and unique range of German designed products were a huge success with large crowds gathering around to watch the cooking and product demonstrations given by the Tepandine team. During the opening day Chef Wan even dropped by with the Epicure founder, Dato Steve Day, and oversaw a demonstration of the magic of Tepandine to the cameras. They saw the patented 'shallow dip' technology that causes the stainless steel cooking center to go from a flat preparation surface when off, to dip by up to 1.5cm when switched on! The fun and excitement continued throughout the 3 day event and like at previous events we had members of the public joining in, not least Dato Steve Day's son, Jonathon Day, who put on a Tepandine apron and cooked and cooked and cooked!

Malaysia has just got its first real taste of why Tepandine is the number one brand for Teppanyaki products in the home. The German designed Tepandine range consists of sleek built-in models for counters, stylish stainless steel tables, and versatile portable designs.

Tepandine will be appointing high quality kitchen dealers shortly and please contact us directly for further information at info@tepandine.com
