Celebrity Chef Ian Kittichai Cooks on Tepandine

Tepandine is pleased to announce the recent cooperation with Internationally renowned TV chef and restaurateur Ian Kittichai. Chef Ian is the host of the popular cooking show Mue Tong which is broadcast in over 50 countries, and when not taking part in events and wowing the crowds with his incredible recipes Ian acts as a highly sought after consultant for restaurant projects in Europe, America and Asia. To find out more about Chef Ian and his journey from a young boy in Thailand to eventually opening his own internationally acclaimed restaurant in New York (via El Bulli in Spain and George V in Paris) please visit his website www.iankittichai.com

In March two separate culinary events got to witness Chef Ian cooking one delicious recipe after another on a Portable Tepandine product. The first event was MAKRO Horeca 2011 @ Impact arena where Ian performed to an eager crowd of food lovers. The highlight dish was duck breast prepared 'sous vide' and then perfectly and delicately seared on a Tepandine Cooktop - truly delicious!

The second great event of the week was 'Taste of Siam' at the Baiyoke sky Hotel where Chef Ian again wowed the crowds. Tepandine was then used in a cooking competition by some of the renowned guests. First the founder of the famous Blue Elephant cooking school, Mrs. Nooror Somany, blew the competition away, finishing her delicious dish on a Tepandine before many of the others competitors had even heated up their pans! This was followed by the Deputy Minister of Industry, Mr.

Chef Ian Kittichai

Puttiphong Punnagun, showing that he's not just good at helping to run the country. For more information and latest news please visit Tepandine at www.tepandine.com.
